ATLANTIC FLEET GOES TO CUBA FOR WINTER EXERCISE

[By Associated Press.]
Old Point Comfort, Va., Jan. 8.—The main body of the Atlantic fleet, including seven dreadnoughts, six cruisers and a number of smaller vessels and auxiliary vessels, under command of Henry B. Wilson, sails today from Hampton Roads for Guantanamo, Cuba, for the annual winter maneuvers and exercises.

The fleet is relatively smaller than previous years due to the fact that lack of men kept the number of dreadnoughts, battleships, several cruisers and a large number of destroyers in port. Of the 708 destroyers attached to the Atlantic fleet only 36 have large enough crews to warrant sending them to sea.

Admiral Wilson's fleet rises from the main of the dreadnought Pennsylvania. The other dreadnoughts in the fleet are the Oklahoma, Nevada, Arizona, Utah, Florida, and Delaware. The North Dakota, recently at Constantinople, is en route to Cuba to join the fleet.

Despite the handicap of depleted and untrained personnel, the fleet this year faces the most extensive and comprehensive schedule of maneuvers in its history. Operations between naval aviation forces and the fleet, experiments in submarine attack problems and other maneuvers are included in the program of target practice, are expected to keep officers and men busy night and day.

After spending a month at Guantanamo the crews will be given a brief respite when the fleet returns to the United States. The fleet will then go to Barbados and the fifth to Trinidad, performing tactical maneuvers en route. No report is made of this winter to join the Atlantic and Pacific fleets for combined maneuvers.

Eighty grade B's as well as A's will enter high school according to the second semester according to Prin. G. A. Bassford who said today the ruling had been made to relieve congestion in the elementary grades.

This is the first year that the entire eighth grade of each school has been promoted to high school division. The 8 B's will continue the regular work and in addition will be given "prep" work for entry into high school. With 75 children entering high school in February the enrollment will be increased from 555 to 750, making by far the largest enrollment in history.

Prin. Bassford has been visiting the grade schools this week giving instructions on the courses of study.

Miss Margaret Ritscher, Milwaukee, women's deputy of the state industrial commission, was a visitor at high school yesterday.

A series of luncheons is being given this week at the Y. M. C. A. and Miss Mildred Nemick to which all faculty members have been invited. The students are assisting in serving.

P. E. P's meet this evening with Rosemary O'Brien. Sewing, gats, 'n' tattle.

Principal Bassford spoke during the morning exercises on the illiteracy of the American people, its causes and remedies.

The weekly rehearsal of the freshman and sophomore girls' glee club was held yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Miss Florence Snyder, director, is getting their voices well before the first of the winter operetta, which she is planning to direct in the spring. The boys' glee club will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

The All Round Girl

Red Cheeks and Pep

"I Should Worry"

By Mollie Price Cook.

"I should worry if it rains or sleets or snows. I can keep healthy any how."

So saying, the Up-To-The-Minute Athletic Girl opened her bedroom window and began her morning exercises. First, with hands straight at sides, she raised and lowered herself on her toes 20 times. Then she raised her hands over her head and without bending knees, brought her fingertips down to the floor 10 times. The tenth time, just for good luck, she touched her palms to the floor and held them there.

The she tried a Floor Push-Up. First position: Flat on floor.

Second position: Arms bent. Body raised straight from floor, palms of hands, balls of feet, and toes touching. The body is held up and down by force of the arm and shoulder muscles. This must be done without bending back, keeping the feet from five to 20 times, depending upon the girl. At first it is difficult, then two or three times will be enough. Then gradually enough strength will be developed so the exercise can be done many times without great effort.

Picture an athletic girl in bloomers and middie directing family exercises in the living room. There are brother Bob and father and mother sitting on chairs with arms against sides, raising their legs straight in the air without touching their hands to the floor. A simple enough exercise, but really more difficult than it looks. Brother Bob and the Athletic Girl can bend their legs until the toes touch the floor back of their hands. Mother and father are trying hard to do the same thing. Father says, "If every person would do the little stunt several times every day, body rigid and muscles strong, a chance for intensive training as formal gymnastics."

Sports that Make Men

Athletics

The Basketball Guard

By H. O. (Pat) Page

The crowd seldom gives any credit for victory to the guards while it continues to explain defeat by the offense. A guard who is loose, nevertheless a coach appreciates a good defensive player. It is a hard position for your opponents to win

if your defense is so perfect that they can't shoot any baskets.

Some teams are coached in what is known as the five-man defense game, in which every man on the team plays a purely defensive game

as soon as the opponents get the ball.

But on the typical team the bulk of the defensive work is done by the guards.

A guard should be fast so that he can cover his opponent quickly. He must be able to start quickly and stop quickly. If he starts slowly, his opponent will be away with the ball before he can get to him. And if he stops slowly, he will be liable to over-push or over-jump his opponent and thus give him a free start at the basket. A guard should be quick and climber. Climbers tend to foul out, which is one of the main things to be avoided. A guard should develop the ability to intercept passes and get rid of the ball in a quick and accurate pass. A field ball making necessary a jump play in guard territory is a mighty dangerous thing.

The stationary guard must be back under the basket, rarely going out from it farther than seven yards.

He should stand between his nearest opponent and the basket. Thus he is in a position to beat him in getting rebounds and to prevent follow-up shots. Also, he can assist the speedy opponent coming into the basket for a short shot. In this manner, he forces his opponents to take long shots. Then it becomes his duty to rush and hurry the long shooter in his territory. His duties require him to be big and husky with a long reach and strong ability.

The floor guard should have speed, endurance, and ability to run the floor. He must be clever at dribbling, dodging, and shooting baskets.

He should be a real rather than a territory or his man, although he must cover one of the opposing forwards

Chicago Review.
Chicago, Jan. 8.—Fresh strength de-

American Woolen was comparatively heavy. The 1 percent opening rate for call loans failed to stimulate trading at noon.

The policy of the Federal Reserve board respecting loans for speculative purposes, was again a deterrent influence at the sluggish opening.

Today's stock market. Metal and food shares were the only issues to show a degree of firmness, the usual leaders, especially oil and motor, displaying moderate heaviness. Rails were almost wholly neglected and high class industrials recorded fractional declines.

Selling of motor shares, which seemed to emanate from professional sources and further heaviness of oil, depressed the list at mid-day. Study Baker, Pierce, Arrow and General Motors were the center of attack, the latter showing an extreme loss of 3 1/2 points.

AMERICAN REDS.

The action of the Cuban government in deporting to the United States an American citizen accused of spreading dangerous radical propaganda is a sharp reminder that the Reds are not all aliens. The man in question admitted on his arrival here that he was a member of the Industrial Workers of the World, but though the officials and others connected with this organization have been convicted by the wholesale of seditious conduct mere membership in it does not as yet constitute a crime. Accordingly, the immigration authorities did not hold him.

The man will bear watching. If the Cuban government considered him dangerous, the American government has cause to regard him with suspicion; for the Reds care nothing for national ties and would as lief plot against the government of their native land as against that of a foreign country. Their song, "The Internationale," shows how little patriotism appeals to them.

The case of this American radical calls attention to an anomalous situation. Foreigners who advocate the destruction of the government, yet against whom the evidence is not sufficiently strong to warrant their being brought to trial, can be deported. But when the persons involved in such a situation are Americans, apparently no action can be taken against them. If it is desirable to get rid of aliens, it is still more desirable to keep the American Reds from working mischief, for their influence is likely to be greater than that of foreign agitators.

THE WISE SELECTION OF GIFTS.

Sufficient time has elapsed since Christmas to allow a worth-while study of judgment in holiday gifts to the children. In every home, certain articles have either been broken or cast into the oblivion of dark corners, while other gifts are cherished, used hourly, and taken to bed at night by their juvenile possessors.

All normal people like to help make Christmas a supremely happy occasion for the little folks, and they also like to select gifts which are best calculated to give lasting pleasure and benefit. In the rush of the last few weeks of shopping, all of us are apt to stray into doubtful ventures in selection, and in our desperation, buy things that are quite likely to fail of the mark.

Now is the time for laboratory tests, and note-taking for reference eleven months hence. Does little Jack toss his picture books aside, and give his time to blocks and erector toys? Does Mary prefer toy tin cans, and dolls, and tin kitchens to the score of varieties of other things that are offered her? Then remember about it. Take a look around the home, note the gifts which didn't fit, and then be guided in your plans for next Christmas. You will thus be able to give more pleasure, and avoid wasting money on the wrong things.

"SURRENDERING" SHIPS TO ENGLAND.

The Hearst papers and other enemies of Great Britain in this country have violently attacked the administration for handing over to England a number of former German merchant ships. The New York Journal puts the case in a headline thus: "Don't give up the ship," said Lawrence; "Give up the ships," says Wilson.

We are not at war with England now, as we were in Lawrence's day, but this is a fact too small for Mr. Hearst's attention. What is the truth about these ships, anyway? How did we chance to come in possession of them, and why did the president turn them over to Great Britain?

In the first place, the ships were never ours. They were German vessels captured in European ports, and turned over to Great Britain by the Inter-Allied Council in reparation for the great number of British ships sunk by submarines. They were lent simply to the United States for use in transporting our army to home shores. When the army had been returned, Britain asked for the ships. The shipping board wanted to hold them pending a decision relative to the final disposition of some Standard Oil tank ships that had carried the German flag before the war. These had been owned by the Standard Oil Company in Germany and are now claimed by the parent company.

That's the whole story of the surrender of the borrowed ships to England. We hope that the Standard Oil Company will get its tankers, and rather expect it will.

THE CHEERFUL GIVER.

Out of a fund of $30,000,000 available for his work this year, the American Red Cross has set aside $15,000,000 for European relief, $1,250,000 for completing its work in Siberia, and $13,750,000 for use at home. Good citizens of America appear to be divided on the question of our nation undertaking governmental responsibilities in foreign countries. But there will be no division of opinion, no withholding of approval regarding this proposed distribution of American Red Cross funds which allots the larger share to the cause of European and foreign relief. The greater need of our suffering brothers and sisters across the sea is recognized.

FRIENDS.
The world is peopled thick with men.
Of every kind and style.
And some possess the world's success
And some are much worth while.
And some may ride in chariots fine,
Some rule the state, and some are great,
And some wear ermine gowns;
But each of us, from all this throng,
Selects a chosen few,
And names them best above the rest,
For they're his comrades true.

Who cares what robs a friend may wear,
Or what his sum of gold?
Who'd turn aside a comrade tried,
To be by Kings extolled?
Who'd change his friends from what they are
To what another seems?
What stranger great could make us hate
The comrade of our dreams?
Oh, men by millions fill the world;
And great the deeds they do,
But better far than others are Remains a comrade true.

He may be but a humble man,
But if his love you hold,
By such a love he stands above
The neighbor rich with gold;
He may not own the touch of fame,
Nor walk with stately grace,
But if he knows and shares your woes
No king can take his place.
Let men grow great and men grow rich
Until life's struggle ends,
Above the throng though weak or strong,
Map still shall hold his friends.

"removed and estranged from my fellows." He is by no means the first Britisher to take this stand, John Galsworthy having furnished a recent notable instance. And in Canada sentiment against knightings of Dominion citizens has gone to the extent of requesting that such distinctions be withheld.

Now concepts grow slowly in Britain and changes are evolved with ponderous movement. But there are signs that our friends in Britain are coming to the American view, that nobility can be achieved, but not conferred. And where it is achieved, no label is needed to evidence the fact.

It is announced that the next crusade of the reformers will have for its object the suppression of all forms of gambling. If it succeeds there will be, of course, many jobs for keyhole sleuths. But how about the time-honored game of marbles?

Chicago taxicab companies have barred ex-convicts from their employ as chauffeurs because so many of them are color blind. They can't tell the company's money from their own.

Besides, there's another advantage in that project to herd cow whales off the California coast for their milk. There's plenty of water handy.

"It will not be long until a burst of speed in politics will drive home that we are in a presidential year."

Prices defy the law of gravity. Evidently there is something new.

When bootleggers fall out honest men may be able to get it for a little less.

Backward Glances

FORTY YEARS AGO

Jan. 8, 1880.—The lighting expense for the streets of Janesville for the year 1879 was reported by the gas company today and is as follows: Gas for street lamps, $1,471. The expense for the lighting and extinguishing the lamps was $415 and the expense for washing the lamps amounted to $18.—E. P. Bliss will spend a few days here before going to Europe.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Jan. 8, 1890.—Thirty firms of the city have agreed to close their places at six o'clock every night except Wednesday and Saturday until the first of April, when they will probably keep open until nine, as before.—Frank Webster and J. E. Addy have formed a partnership and will enter the clothing business in this city.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Jan. 8, 1900.—Mrs. Sarah White was granted a divorce from William White this morning in circuit court. The defendant did not appear. The divorce was granted on the grounds of non-support.—W. F. Day, La Crosse, was in the city yesterday. His wife had run away from him, after one year of marriage. He found her in Beloit later in the day and took her home.

TEN YEARS AGO

Jan. 8, 1910.—The most successful poultry show in this part of the country will close at the rink tonight. Ten cups were given, besides the many cash premiums. The 225 men who were sent here from Chicago to clear the tracks of the Northwestern railroad in this vicinity have struck for 26 cents an hour. They have been getting 16.

Banker-Navigator

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN, Director

Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau,
Washington, D. C.

Washington, Jan. 8.—A method by which the captain of a ship in mid-ocean can find his exact position, latitude and longitude, by use of wireless and without the aid of the stars and the sextant which have guided mariners for centuries, has been perfected by a member of the United States naval reserves, and is published to the world this month by the United States navy.

This new method is interesting, and the man who invented it is still more so. Lieut. Com. Abner B. Clements, U. S. Navy, is a banker, lawyer and financier, who has been known chiefly as a speculator in copper mines and a figure in so-called "copper wars."

Many Were Quitting
There was nothing unusual about that. A great many young men of ability were leaving the navy about that time, because promotion was extremely slow. The Civil war had checked a class of officers. The situation in respect to promotion was much the same as that which naval academy graduates will find the next year will face.

The unusual feature of Clements' case is that, although he left the navy, he did not neglect his studies of mathematics and astronomy which had fascinated him as a student. During the most strenuous phases of a somewhat spectacular career in finance he found his recreation in working out problems in ballistics, navigation, trigonometry, the formulae of calculus and trigonometry, which the average college man forgets within three years of his graduation.

When the war broke out, the government called on Clements' hobby. He found himself in an officer's school at Mare Island where he taught the technique of naval warfare to men some of whom ought to have known more about it than he did.

His Method Is Simple
Now as to his invention, which is not a machine but a method, and a method so simple (as mathematical methods go) that it would wonder no one if it existed before.

During the war a device was perfected by the navy for determining the direction of radio waves from another ship. This device, briefly, consisted of an electrical coil turning on a perpendicular axis. If the radio waves strike the coil, a current is started and the operator can recognize the fact by the loud buzz which it gives off. If the coil is at the flat side of the coil there is no current and no buzz. By turning the coil until the point is found where the buzz is loudest, or least, the direction from which the radio waves are coming can easily be determined. In this way, our ships often located many ships.

Another use of this direction finder immediately suggested itself. A ship going into a harbor in a fog would send out a radio message. The direction of the ship by this direction finder, and having this direction, by a process of triangulation, could determine the ship's position and communicate to the ship's captain by wireless.

This method has been in use for several years on all coast guard cutters equipped with wireless stations and by both naval and merchant ships.

Manitowoc.—The Association of Commerce has appointed a housing committee to take charge of the rooming proposition for the winter here this month. Every visitor is assured that he will be properly and promptly taken care of, the committee having arranged to take care of 150 visitors for the first part of the week and larger numbers for the end of the week.

Appleton.—Wisconsin counties which bonded themselves this year for the purpose of building concrete roads may find it impossible to obtain cement with which to build the highways according to information received here. Several large cement manufacturers have already sold their entire outputs for 1920 and other firms have given notice that they have enough orders on hand to keep them running for months.

Neenah.—Neenah will not lose representation in the Wisconsin national guard because of its failure to fully organize a local company on or before Jan. 1, 1920. Capt. Dietz has secured an extended extension of the time from Adj. Gen. Orlando Holway.

Sheboygan.—Joseph Kenf, for several years credit manager of the Northern company, is the new manager of the Sheboygan Aluminum company.

YOU KNOW HER.
She goes into the dry goods store and wanders 'round two hours or more. And looks at all the signs. She handles by the feel, by the feel of silks and satins stacked in piles, in long and varied lines. She prices everything, in sight and in secret, the clerks a frenzy of it. When they can't make the sales, she misses not a counter there, but visits each to stand and stare. And she her fingers all.

They think she is going to buy the whole store out and wonders why she doesn't make a start. You see, she looks as though she has a whole cartload of dough. With which she wants to part. And when they ask her, "How much, please?" in tones which show they're ill at ease.

She merely shakes her head; And when she leaves, it's safe to bet she's bought just what she came to get—A spool of cotton thread.

So long as people encourage him by buying things they cannot afford, at exorbitant prices, the profiteer will flourish in our midst.

A PROTEAN LOOKOUT.
AT CAMPBELL, STOPS MICHAEL EYER AND BROW, BUT SHE SPOKE WITH A DIFFERENT MOUTH.—Cosmopolitan.

In Philadelphia they have evolved a neat plan to make a good census showing. Philadelphia will make an earnest effort to render a regular town by the "Record" takes effect. Let every loyal Philadelphian vow to do his utmost to avoid doing anything but the census takers have got in their work.

A few days ago somebody connected with the fuel administration advised the people to buy wood to burn instead of coal. We are always patriotic in so far as within the means, so we started out to buy wood, as our furnace will burn anything from coal to peat. Then we made the discovery that wood, in our fair city, is retailing at $25 a cord. Somebody else will have to burn wood, that's all.

"He is a dry wit," says a friend of ours, speaking of a certain author. We'll say he is—just now, anyhow.

ASK US

The Gazette maintains an information bureau at Washington, D. C., under the direction of Frederic J. Haskin. Questions will be answered by our staff of men who desire information, may write a letter to the Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau, Washington, D. C., and choose a subject. The letter will be answered by the bureau.

Q. In which country is infant mortality lowest? E. J. K.
A. New Zealand has the smallest number of deaths among its infants of any country, the rate being nine in every thousand. In the United States, the latest available figures show that about one out of every thousand babies die. Russia is reported to have the highest infant death rate, 23 out of every thousand infants succumbing.

Q. How many people died in this country as a result of the influenza epidemic of 1918? E. J. K.
A. It is conservatively estimated that in the United States more than 550,000 persons died from influenza. This is five times the number of Americans who lost their lives from all causes during the war.

Q. Are enlisted men in the regular army retired with a pension after serving a certain number of years? J. E. T.
A. They are permitted to retire on three-fourths pay after 30 years service.

Q. Is the food value of butter greater than that of olcomargarine? L. W. J.
A. The Department of Agriculture says that there is no appreciable difference in the nutritive value of these two foods.

Q. How many centenarians are there in the United States? H. C.
A. The 1910 census showed that there were then in the United States 3,555 persons one hundred years of age or over. Of these, 1,380 were men and 2,175 were women.

Q. What is the national anthem of Italy? O. O. C.
A. It is "Marche Reale Italiana," which translated means, Royal Italian March.

Q. Is it necessary to secure a passport before going to Cuba? J. E. T.
A. A passport must be procured from the State Department in order to travel from the United States to Cuba. An application for a passport should be made to the clerk of the nearest United States court. The fare by boat from New York to Havana is about $12 a class.

Q. Will the family of a deceased soldier have to bear the expense of removing his body from France to the United States? J. E. T.
A. The expense of bringing back to this country for burial the bodies of soldiers who were killed or died of disease will be borne by the government.

Q. What is the salary of General Pershing? R. S.
A. As a general in the United States army, his base pay is $10,000 a year.

Q. How much profit is a grocer allowed to make on a pound of sugar? A. V. S.
A. A profit of one and one-half cents per pound is considered reasonable.

Menasha.—A Fox River valley baseball league, playing Sunday and holiday baseball, and including the cities of Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Menasha-Neenah, Kaukauna, Green Bay and Appleton, is the talk of the baseball bugs here and at Fond du Lac.

A serious attempt to organize such a league will be made.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON
Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of fourteen and have a girl friend thirteen. Two weeks ago I spoke the last kind word to her; previous to that time we had been good friends. Now she does not speak to me. I don't know what has happened. What should I do?
C. B. A.

Ask your girl friend the cause of this unfriendly attitude. Possibly you have unintentionally done or said something at which she has taken offense. A few plain words will no doubt set all right again and your friendship will be renewed.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am thirty-five years of age and can do anything in the line of housework. I can sew, am a pretty good piano player and also can sing enough for my own amusement. I am not so bad looking. I am trying to find out why I cannot find a good husband. There are a few men who come to see me and when I refused to let them love me or kiss me they would not come anymore. They told me, when I was younger, that I was too cold and stiff. In that line I have nothing to regret, as I do not believe in allowing everybody to have such privileges. Can you advise me? I would love to have a home of my own and am longing for companionship and some one to love me.
J. E. L. J.

Life seems to be the working out of destiny. As long as you do as nearly as possible what you consider right there is no chance to have regrets. This course may make you from her husband. He should offer as he did before marriage.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have met boy friends at dances and have received letters from them after a few days which they wanted me to answer. Would it be all right to answer? The letters are nice and friendly and some of the boys I like very much and some I don't care about.
READER.

It would be all right to answer the letters if you show judgment. Do not be hasty in picking up friends by this method. It pays for a girl to be sure that she is choosing her friends wisely.

GIRLS ARE 'SWORN IN' TO PROTECT SISTERS

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
New York, Jan. 8.—Fifteen thousand young women have been "sworn in" by the New York Protective and Protective association to aid in protecting the morals of girls here.

The theory of this "girl to girl" it was explained today, is to use "the subtle sympathy of youth for youth" to bring about such healthful recreations as shall prevent the exploitation of leisure time by commercial and undesirable interests.

The girls who have enlisted their aid work for a living and have average conditions to contend with in their own homes. They are members of the Girls' Service clubs and the Girls' Protective league.

Health Talks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author.

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Written answers are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

No Germs on Hand Today.

Sometimes ago I said in an article entitled "What Germs Have You on Hand?" that the hands can and universally do carry living germs capable of causing serious illness, and that hand infection is the thing modern surgeons and nurses labor so hard to prevent and the menace which hangs over the living chamber. I also said that perfect cleanliness PLUS trained aseptic intelligence—which only the hospital trained nurse can acquire and apply—protected patients from these ever-present dangers. But I quoted from a personal communication from one of the foremost bacteriologists of the country who took occasion to say that certain disease germs, such as diphtheria bacilli, survive on objects in the sputum for as long as 40 to 60 days according to his experience in making bacteriological cultures. I had stated in a preceding article that disease germs do not commonly survive many minutes away from their host, that is, the body of the person, animal or insect that harbors them.

Dr. Lawson Brown, of Trudeau, N. Y., an authority on tuberculosis, has been carrying out some interesting tests in collaboration with Mr. S. A. Petroff and Dr. Gilberto J. Pasquale.

They even failed to produce tuberculosis in guinea pigs by exposing the animals directly to dust in exhalation for half an hour. However, dust inhalations has unquestionably precipitated infection of the lungs, with tuberculosis in other animal experiments, and probably does so in human beings.

EATING UTENSILS which ordinarily come in contact with the lips or mouth were found contaminated with tubercle bacilli, but such utensils which ordinarily do not touch the lips or mouth were not found contaminated. The SPOONS, FORKS, GLASSES and CUPS used by tubercular patients were contaminated with bacilli; knives and plates remained free. Dr. Brown and his collaborators assert that, as J. W. Price has proved, ordinary washing and rinsing in very hot water is sufficient to sterilize such utensils. Attempts to recover tubercle bacilli from the HAND of a second person who has just shaken hands with a tubercular patient who had purposefully coughed repeatedly in his hand failed. Likewise it proved impossible to find tubercle bacilli on the doorknob repeatedly handled by a patient whose sputum contained many bacilli and who purposefully coughed repeatedly into his hands before handling the knob.

KISSING proved a positive way of infecting the surface kissed by the individual with tubercle bacilli in the sputum.

As the investigators are careful to say, the experiments are not final or conclusive, but merely suggest that the ways of infection still require study.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Cutting Out Turbinate
The surgeon at the _____ clinic examined me recently and wrote this report: "Naso-pharyngitis—Inferior turbinate somewhat hypertrophied." He advises an operation. As I am studying singing I would appreciate your opinion. The operation would be likely to benefit me. Frequently while singing I become hoarse and my voice has no resonance. (L. G. B.)

Answer—I am unable to advise for or against the operation without having personally examined you. If it were my voice, I think I would first make sure to correct the general hygiene, and perhaps have a course of treatment of the naso-pharyngitis by a physician or nose and throat specialist. Your letter gives no inkling whether any such efforts have been made.

Young Man of 17
I am a young man of 17 and would like to know what books on sex hygiene you would recommend me to read. (M. J.)

Answer—First, young man, I cannot forbear to offer you a little extraneous advice. Never waste your words. Rather, I am a man of 17—I know, without your mentioning the fact that you are young. We men are supposed not to chatter, you know—we are supposed to leave that for the more credulous sex. Write to the United States Public Health Service, 141 First Street Northwest, Washington, D. C., and ask for Pamphlet A, of the Sex Hygiene series, for Young Men. You might also send 10 cents in stamps to the American Medical Association, 535 N. Dearborn Street, Chicago, Illinois, and ask for a pamphlet entitled "The Boy's Venereal Peril."

PASTRY HINTS

What Makes Butters Pies so brown on top? Milk brushed over crust with a small brush will give your pie the same appearance.
The Crystal Drops on the meringue of pies? Just before returning to oven to brown, sprinkle a little sugar over it.
The Edges of their pies, so smooth and never any juice seeping out? After forming first crust in your pie pan dip the fingers in water and moisten the edge, then add second crust and press together with the palms of the hands, instead of fingers or fork, until dough falls away from the edge.

Nauges and Odd Figures on cake with "icing" so even? Take a piece of brown paper four inches square, form into a funnel, clip off the point into a V shape. Fill funnel with icing and squeeze out over cake in any form desired.

To Remove Cake From Pan—If cake sticks to pan and threatens to break to pieces when you take it out, turn the pan upside down and lay on the bottom of it a cloth wrung out of cold water. About five minutes after the cake can be removed without crumbling to pieces.
When Making Crust for pies mix up quite a quantity at a time two or three days before using; that is, the flour, salt and shortening. This will keep indefinitely in a covered crock and with only the addition of water it is always ready for use. Crust made in this manner is ever so much nicer, being invariably tender and flaky.

FOR THE TABLE
Pork Chops and Dressing—Use as many chops as you need for your family. Make dressing of stale bread, minced onion, two tablespoons of lard, sage, pepper, and one egg. Mix all well together.

Take half of the chops and put a good layer of dressing on each one, then place the other chops on the dressing.
Put two tablespoons of drippings in roaster, lay in chops and roast as you would chicken one pint of boiling water, being put in roaster when put in oven. Baste often.
These are fine and would be good for a holiday dinner where no chicken or turkey is to be used.
